

MEMBER CONTRACT & PRACTICAL INFORMATION

Welcome to the SBCM Alumni Forum

Welcome to the SBCM Alumni Forum - your professional & personal learning community & network that inspires and helps you to do good & well even better. For the benefit of society and the bottom line.

You have joined an exclusive and diverse group of like-minded professionals who wish to network, exchange and continue their learning journey together with other certified Sustainable Business Change Managers.

The Alumni Forum represents a diverse range of sectors, industries and professions - from business development, HR, finance, fundraising, partnerships, public affairs, marketing, branding and communication to sourcing, procurement, QA, HSE, project, supply chain and category management.

Together you share a common language and sustainable business mindset - and the ambition to truly make a difference.

What to expect

We've created the Alumni Forum to support you in your daily sustainability efforts:

In the forum you can give & find support and learn from the practical experience of other members. We encourage you to actively use, contribute and engage in the forum by sharing ideas news, events, thoughts or questions.

Throughout the season we will also be providing you with trend updates, inspiring cases, relevant tools and practical advice through our webinars, briefings and more. You will also get access to the latest course material, exercise slides, updated tools and editable templates from the SBCM certification program.

All conversations and exchanges - online as well as offline - are under the Chatham House Rule - i.e. you are free to use all information received but may not refer to specific persons/companies unless they have given their consent.
